THE following Address to His Majesty from his Grace the Duke of Portland, Captain-General and Governor in Chief of the Island of Jamaica, and the Honourable the Council of the said Island, having been presented to His Majesty by his Grace the Duke of Newcastle, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

To the King's most Excellent Majestyn.

The humble Address of his Grace the Duke of Portland, Captain-General and Governor in Chief of the Island of Jamaica, and the Honourable the Council of the said Island.

Maj. Gracious Service,

We your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, begs the Governtour and Council of this your Majesty's Island of Jamaica, beg Leave to return our humblest Acknowledgments for the tender REGARD your Majesty was pleased to shew to our Misfortunes in the last dreadful Hurricane, and for your Majesty's great Goodness in sending us such timely Relief of Ammunition and warlike Stores. It is an inexpressible Satisfaction to us to find ourselves so early in your Majesty's Thoughts, and though remote, yet enjoying all the Advantages of your Subjects who have the Happiness to be placed nearest your Majesty's Person. Such extraordinary Instances of your Royal Favour, cannot but incite in us suitable Returns of Duty and Gratitude. We shall be always highly sensible of them, and upon all Occasions, Endeavour, to the utmost of our Power, to distinguish ourselves amongst the best of your Majesty's Subjects, in our steady Adherence to the present happy Establishment, and our inviolable Loyalty and Attachment to your Majesty's sacred Person, and Government.

Passed the Council the 21st of June 1723.
PORTLAND.

I Have been Vigilant and Attentive from Morning till Night; no Body ever saw me Slothful and Indolent; on the contrary, I have applied myself continually to the Affairs of my Empire. I have laboured and spared no Pain for the Welfare of my People, just as if it had been but the Work of one Day. What others call toiling and fatiguing, does not come up near to what I have undergone and suffered, in order to govern well the Empire. The former Emperors have had but a short Reign: The Historians of the Empire tell us, that they have shortened their Days by Drunkenness and Lasciviousness. All the Writers delight in calising the Actions of the Emperors; and though an Emperor he never so good and accomplished, they will certainly find fault with him in some thing or other. But to vindicate the Emperors of the preceding Reigns, I must distinguish and set this Master in a clear Light: Wherefore I say, that seeing the Affairs of the Empire are numberless, they sink under the Weight of them, and this has been the Cause of their short Lives. The Great Tchou Koo Lesso (Minister to an Emperor of the Family of Han) used to say, I boast my Strength, but ~~but~~ I am dead I shall have run my Race gloomy. Let the Ministers of the Empire but consider and follow the Example he sets them. If a Prince takes upon him the heavy Burthen of the Empire, he ought not to throw it off upon another Shoulders. The Painfull Labours of his Ministers cannot be compared to his: Ministers can accept of an Employment, and quit it afterwards soon or late; when they grow old they resign their Places, and retire to their Families, where they have the Happiness to enjoy themselves with their Children and Grandchildren. They have what they wish for, they live Quiet and Content. But it is quite otherwise with an Emperor: all his Life is a continued Series of Pain, Unceaspe, and Labour. He has not to make a Day of Rest. And such a one was the Emperour Kubo, though they did of him, that he did not much trouble himself with the Affairs of the Government; and yet at the End of his Days overwhelmed with the Care of the Empire, he died at Tien-Gou in the Province of Kiang-Si, at a great distance from his Family. Another Emperour Yew (he that deuided China, when overthrown with Water) travelled for many Years up and down, surveying and measuring the Land himself, till at last, being tired and quite spent, he died at Houtz Ky Hien (a Town of the 3d Rank in the Province of Tche Kian,) and very remote from his Family. Thus these two Emperours have suffered for the sake of their Empire. They went everywhere themselves to examine Things upon the Spot, and would not allow themselves a Place for their Rest and Residence. Now who will say that those Emperours had nothing to do, and lived an idle Life.

This will be continued A.D. May 12. The Squadron of four Men of War that is to carry M. d'Andreas to Constantinople, and which arrived in this Road the 5th Instant, was but a Portuguese in coming hither from Marseille. The Dey was no sooner informed of this Ambassador's Arrival, but he sent some to Compliment him, and to offer him some Rebateiments. In the Evening this Minister went to the French Consul's House, and the following Day he had Audience of the Dey, who received him with great Marks of Distinction. Since that Time he has been in Conference with the Regency for concluding the Peace with the King his Master, as likewise with the Dutch, who they came to an Agreement about the Peace with France, the chief Conditions of which are, That the Navigation of France should be settled again upon the ancient Foot: That the Algerines should not be allowed to take any French Prize, though the Time of their Passes should be expired, and their Cruisers should not come within 10 Leagues of the French Coasts. But as for the Peace with the Dutch, they could not agree about the Condomina. The said Ambassador will proceed To-morrow on his Voyage for Constantinople. We have now 12 Cruisers at Sea.

Madrid, June 5. On the 2nd past Mr. Stanhope, the British Ambassador, had an Audience of the Catholic King at Aranjuez, when he presented two Letters from His Britannick Majesty; one being in Answer to a Letter King Lewis wrote to notify to His Majesty his Abdication to the Crown, and the other being new Credentials for his Excellency Mr. Stanhope, who returned hither from Aranjuez the 29th.

Paris, June 21. Last Week the Parliament pronounced Sentence against a Baillif and an Attorney, accused and convicted of foul Practices. The Baillif was condemned to make an execrable Amand in a white Shirt with a Torch in his Hand, and to be sent to the Gallies; and the Attorney to be present at the execrable Amand, and afterwards to be banished the Kingdom for Life. The Robbers accused to have illtreated the English Gentle-blethen near Calais, have not been tried yet, because three other Highwaymen were carried last Week to the Prison called the Conciergerie, supposed to be of the same Gang. The five Persons that have counterfeited Bank Bills, and have been in Prison since 1721, will be tried forthwith by Commissioners nominated for that purpose. The Count de Floreac is indispesed, but 'tis thought her Illness will not prove dangerous. Count de Mafay, who takes Care of the King of Sardinia's Affairs at this Court, is gone to Cambrai, and not to Turin, as it had been mentioned. On the 19th instant Prince Auguste of Bremen was to marry the Princess his Sister, in the Name of the Duke of Orleans. The same Day M. Dargeron set out from Raftad on his Return hither, and then he is to attend the Duke of Orleans to Chalons. The Abbot Ragonet has been named Director for the Spiritual Affairs of the India Company, with a Salary of 12000 Livres. He is likewise enjoyned to write the History of the said Company. On Friday last in the Evening, M. d'Aligre, President à Mortier of the Parliament of Paris, had an Apoplestic Fit, and is in great Danger. They talk of suppressing all the King's Petty Secretaries, and part of the Great ones, but those that are continued will be obliged to reimburse the others. There goes likewise a Report, that some Alterations will be made in the Ministry. The Actions rose Yesterday to 1710 Livres 3, but the new Lottery Tickets are no more than Seven above Par.

The Transparent RNICUND LIQUID,
Which gives such a beautiful florid Colour to the Cheeks of those who are pale or white, as not to be exceeded by the finest Natural Complexion in the World, nor to be distinguished from it, or perceived to be Artificial by the most intimate Friend, it being nothing of Paint, or subje<sup>c</sup>t, like that, to be rub'd off, neither is it daubing to use, or in any respect hurtful, but as heretofore as fair Water, and good in many Cafes to be taken inwardly. It has a pleasant Scent, and is to be used without any manner of Trouble; and, by the most agreeable blushing Colour it gives (which may be heighten'd or lower'd at pleasure) it makes those who are wan or pale, thro' Weaknes, Indisposition, or even Age it self, appear charming fair and most exquisitely beautiful; for it seems to add Spirit and Life to the Muscles of the Face, thus before look'd faint and languid, giving a surprising bright Air to every Feature, and an inexplicable youthful Bloom to the whole Countenance. Is to be had only by the Author's Appointment, of the Gentlewoman at the Two Blue Posts in Haydon-yard in the Minories, at 3 s. 6 d. a Bottle, (containing enough to last a long Time) with Directions.

CONSUMPTIONS of all sorts radically cured, by a famous Elixir peculiarly invented for that Disease: Its wonderful Efficacy sufficiently exploded the erroneous Opinion, that Consumptions are incurable, since it absolutely retrieves the Patient tho' reduced to a mere Skeleton, quickly takes off all the Symptoms, as Coughs, Hoarsenes, Wheezing, Shortness of Breath, Pain, Weight in the Breast, Spitting of Blood, Soreness of the Stomach, Throat, or Windpipe: Also Catarrhs, or Defluxions of sharp Rheum, and all Phisical and Astrallic Effects, Hectick Fever, &c. perfectly cures all internal Ulcers, restores all inward Wastings, Weaknes, and Decay of Nature, being Balsamic and strengthening beyond Comparison: It affordingly eradicates the first Principal or Cause of Consumptions, rectifying the Disorders of the Stomach and first Passages, creating an Appetite, procuring a good Digestion, reducing the vicious Ferment of the Blood and Juices, correcting the acrid Salts that erode the Lungs, certainly healing Ulcers therein, and infallibly curing all sorts of Consumptions, tho' never so bad, in a very short Time, to a Miracle. Price 3 s. 6 d. a Bottle, with Directions. Is sold only at Mr. Radford's Toyshop, at the Rose and Crown in St. Clement's Church-yard in the Strand, near Arundel-street-End.
